Monica Monsantofilis is the West Clinical Educator for DENTSPLY Professional. Monica received a dental hygiene degree from Portland Community College, Bachelor of Science in Dental Hygiene from Eastern Washington University and PG Diploma of Dental Sciences from King’s College London, UK. Monica brings over 30 years of clinical experience in periodontal and general practices and 13 years of academic experience to the Division. Monica’s academic experience includes advanced instrumentation, community oral health and restorative functions. Monica’s research “Oral Impacts on Daily Performances and Use of Dental Services in Schoolchildren” was published in the International Journal of Pediatric Dentistry. Monica’s focus is to provide dental professionals with current concepts and evidence based research to assist them in implementing effective and efficient evidence based treatment protocols in their clinical practice.

The Benefits of an Anesthetic Portfolio: Risk Assessment to Results
To deliver optimal patient care, pain management is an essential component of periodontal therapy procedures. Supported by science, this course will provide the dental professional with the information necessary to make an anesthetic choice based on each patient’s needs.

Two Decades of Tooth Whitening: What Has Changed?
The demand for esthetic dentistry has increased in recent years. Whitening products have evolved to meet the needs of today’s dental patients. This course will outline the evolution of these products using current scientific literature and evidence-based strategies. To provide clinicians practical guidelines, different types of products and materials will be reviewed to aid the dental professional in choosing the most appropriate product and technique. By comparing tooth whitening advancements that have taken place over the last two decades, clinicians can help their patients achieve the best clinical results.
